Overview of Handbook

This Faculty Handbook is a collection of policies that apply specifically to faculty members, related to their unique role(s) in the University. Unless otherwise stated, these policies apply to all full-time, benefit-eligible faculty employed by Boise State University. Individual units may have additional or more explicit criteria, procedures, and expectations that are consistent with this Handbook. This additional information is available at the dean’s office.

Disclaimer: This Faculty Handbook provides basic information for faculty but should not be viewed as a complete guide to academics, research, creative activity, service, or other components of the faculty experience nor as any kind of a contract or legally binding document.

Please contact your department administrator if you find discrepancies between department, college, and university policies.

Faculty members who believe existing laws, policies, procedures, or practices have been violated, misapplied, or misinterpreted, and are perceived to have adversely affected an individual employee's professional or academic capacity, may file a grievance on their own behalf. (Faculty Grievance (Policy 4480))

University Legal Advice

The University's attorneys through the Office of General Counsel provide legal advice to University employees and entities who in the course of their responsibilities are acting on behalf of the University.

Faculty Review Processes

The faculty of Boise State University must be reviewed annually to evaluate their performance. Evaluation of performance is an important component of faculty development and personnel actions such as reappointment, non-appointment, granting promotion and/or tenure, salary determination, and other personnel actions. (Annual Faculty Performance Evaluation (Policy 4290))

Research/Scholarship

Boise State University is committed to fostering an environment where research and creative activity thrive. Scholarship encompasses not only traditional academic research and publication but also the creation of artistic works or performances and any other products or activities accepted by the academic or professional discipline as reflecting scholarly effort and achievement. Boise State University recognizes the Boyer model of scholarship. This model identifies four types of Scholarship: (1) discovering knowledge, (2) integrating knowledge, (3) applying knowledge, and (4) scholarship of teaching. Scholarship should be subject to the critical scrutiny of departmental and/or professional peers and should expand the frontiers of knowledge. See section 5.3 for Professional Rights of Faculty related to scholarship (Faculty Code of Rights, Responsibilities, and Conduct (Policy 4000)).

Additional policies which guide faculty in research/scholarship:

Sabbatical

A sabbatical leave is awarded to provide time and resources for tenured faculty members to revitalize themselves in order to become more effective teachers and scholars and to enhance their services to the university.

- Faculty Sabbatical Leave (Policy 4400)

Teaching

The integrity of the Faculty-Student relationship is the foundation of the University’s educational mission. This relationship vests considerable trust in the Faculty Member, who, in turn, bears authority and accountability as mentor, educator, academic advisor, and evaluator. The unequal power inherent in this relationship heightens the vulnerability of the Student and the potential for abuse and/or coercion. The pedagogical relationship between Faculty Member and Student must be protected from influences or behaviors that can interfere with learning consistent with the goals and ideals of the University. See Section 5.3 for Professional Rights of Faculty Related to Teaching and Students (Faculty Code of Rights, Responsibilities, and Conduct (Policy 4000)).

Additional policies which guide faculty in teaching:

- Student Course Evaluations (Policy 4300)
- Student Course Evaluation Comment Redaction Policy (Policy 4690)

Service

Shared governance brings with it a special responsibility for Faculty. The University has diverse concerns, perspectives, and interests that require Faculty to participate in relevant department, college, school, and University governance structures (see the AAUP Statement on Government of Colleges and Universities). See Section 5.3 for Professional Rights of Faculty related to service (Faculty Code of Rights, Responsibilities, and Conduct (Policy 4000)).

Service is expected of all Faculty who have workload assignments for service and may include the following:

- Service to the Academic Department or Research Unit
- Service to the College/School and the University
- Service to the Profession
- Service to the Community, State, Nation, World

Faculty Salary, Benefits, Leaves, and Retirement

Faculty as employees are covered by University policies and procedures that pertain to all employees. In some areas, however, there are distinctions between staff employees and faculty employees regarding benefits, retirement, and employee relations.

The Office of the Provost provides many HR types of functions, including the administration of appointments; faculty reviews, including Retention, Promotion, and Tenure and Post-Tenure Review; review of RPT criteria; non-medical leave; faculty relations; and a role in faculty grievance processes.

University Human Resources and Workforce Strategy (HR) administers the benefits package for all eligible employees, including faculty and staff. HR also manages medical leave and accommodations.
