

BOISE STATE UNIVERSITY

COLLEGE OF HEALTH SCIENCES

INTERPROFESSIONAL EDUCATION CLINICAL SEMINAR

Purpose

The purpose of the IPE Clinical Seminar is to provide learners with evidence-based knowledge and skills on a selected health care topic through an interprofessional lens. The seminar will provide an opening lecture and discussion from a “clinical expert” and culminate with an interprofessional team learning activity for participants.

Target Participants

Professional program students from the Treasure Valley including Boise State University - College of Health Science, Idaho State University – Meridian Health Science Center, and the University of Washington – Medical Education Program (WWAMI).

Where

Boise State University, Student Union Building, Hatch AB

When

November 1st, 2017 from 6:00-8:30 pm*

Topic

“Motivational Interviewing” presented by Jennifer Obenshain MSW, LCSW

“A client-centered, directive method for enhancing intrinsic motivation to change by exploring and resolving ambivalence.” (Miller & Rollnick)

Motivational Interviewing is a collaborative conversation to strengthen a person’s own motivation for and commitment to change.

RSVP

Electronic RSVP to follow (space will be limited).

Questions

Contact Phil Ford at IPECOHS@boisestate.edu

*food will be provided.

IPE Definition

“When students from two or more [healthcare] professions learn about, from and with each other to enable effective collaboration and improve health outcomes.” (World Health Organization)